Escape to Alderney

No crowds, no queues...
just breathtaking scenery and unspoilt beaches.

Just a stone's throw from the south coast of England lies the beautiful island of Alderney. With no crowds, no queues and no traffic jams our small island is often described as the 'hidden gem of the Channel Islands' and offers a warm, peaceful and relaxing escape for you to enjoy.

At just one and a half miles wide and three and a half miles long, you are never far from the charming town centre of St Anne or our beautiful coastline. You can walk the stunning cliff paths, enjoy our quiet, uncrowded sandy beaches or tuck into our local produce. Go birdwatching, rockpooling or explore our history. Be entertained by a wide variety of events or simply enjoy a night of stargazing under our truly dark skies.

There is no other place in the world like Alderney. It's a friendly island with an easy pace of life, where children can still roam free.

Whether you are discovering Alderney for the first time or returning to our island paradise, Alderney has something to offer for everyone.

The journey of discovery begins

Alderney is the closest of all the Channel Islands to the UK with direct routes from the south coast and our neighbouring island of Guernsey is also within easy reach.

You'll find travelling by air to Alderney a friendly and personal experience. Where else would you be welcomed on to your plane by the pilot and find you have your very own window seat! Seeing the island from above is a magical moment and once landed our small airport terminal will offer you a warm and friendly welcome.

If you are coming by sea you would have just over an hour's boat ride from Guernsey or Normandy and as you arrive in Alderney's harbour, don't assume you'll be greeted by the sight of a large port, our quaint harbour instantly gives you a feel for the island.

Island hopping

Jersey

Jersey is the largest and southernmost of the Channel Islands and offers an extraordinary variety of landscapes from beaches to coastal paths and charming villages to the capital of Saint Helier. Whether it's the view from a 12th century castle, a beach walk along Jersey's unspoilt coastline or taking time to watch the sun sink into the sea over St. Ouen's Bay, Jersey is a perfect stop off on your island hopping holiday.

Herm

One of the smaller of our sister islands, Herm offers coastal paths, beautiful beaches and coves and award winning gardens. Life on Herm is tranquil with only a couple of tractors and no cars on the island, sample it yourself with a hop over from Guernsey.

Herm Information Centre 01481 750000

Sark

With only 600 residents the pace of life on Sark is relaxed, with no cars the best way to see the island is by bike or horse-drawn carriage.

Guernsey

From their stunning south coast cliffs to white sandy beaches, cobbled streets of their charming capital to its fabulous restaurants, Guernsey offers a unique and diverse holiday destination or day trip.

One of the best ways to explore Guernsey is on foot, with almost 30 miles of cliff paths that weave around the spectacular south coast. Stop off at Moulin Huet and enjoy the same unspoilt views that inspired Renoir to paint here in the 19th century. Why not visit during their spring and autumn walking festivals and join a guide to find out more about its fascinating history.

Guernsey has a unique heritage and offers a range of excellent museums.

Visit during April and May and join in the Heritage Festival, or in early autumn when Guernsey hosts its annual Food Festival - a real culinary treat for food lovers.

So hike the cliffs or relax on their beaches, dine out in one of the seaside restaurants or simply sit back and watch the world go by, the choice is yours.

Alderney Railway

Alderney has the only working railway in the Channel Islands. It used to carry stones from the quarries to sites back in the 19th century. Nowadays, the old wagons have been replaced by London Underground carriages to carry visitors from Braye Station to Mannez Station at the east end of the island. It runs every Sunday from May to September along with every Saturday in July and August. There is also an extra train every Wednesday in June and September. For times please call into the Visitor Information Centre during your stay.

Alderney Bayeux Tapestry Finale

The Alderney Library is the home of Alderney's famous Bayeux Tapestry Finale, a 3m panel that completes the story of the unfinished Bayeux Tapestry. It was stitched by over 400 residents and visitors during 2012 and was unveiled in April 2013 by the Curator of the Bayeux Tapestry. The panel shows the major events from the conclusion of the Battle of Hastings on 14th October 1066 to the coronation of William the Conqueror in Westminster Abbey on Christmas Day 1066. Entry is free to the Library. Talks can be arranged by contacting Kate Russell on 01481 823366 or j.kate@cwgsy.net alderneybayeuxtapestry.com

Alderney Lighthouse

Mannez Lighthouse was commissioned in 1912, after the SS Liverpool ran aground in the adjacent Cats Bay. In conjunction with Alderney's other lighthouse, Casquets and the French Cap de La Hague lighthouse, Mannez stands guard at the northern approach to the Channel Islands with its hazardous fast flowing waters. The 32m high building used to have a light range of 24 nautical miles and the two impressive fog horns could be heard over 12 nautical miles away. The lighthouse is now electrified and the fog horn redundant but the black and white tower remains a key landmark. Tours are available every Sunday at 3pm from May to September. Adults £4 / Children £3

Alderney Museum

The award winning museum provides a history of the island from the pre-historic period to the present day. There are many fascinating displays including an extensive display of Alderney's Elizabethan wreck and recent discovery Roman remains. Ask the volunteer staff anything - they will be delighted to help! Open April to October, Mon to Fri 10-12noon and 2.30-4.30pm, Sat and Sun 10-12noon. By request at other times. 01481 823222 Adults £3 / Children Free alderneysociety.org

Alderney Bell Tower

Alderney Bell Tower

The Parish Church of St Anne is home to a glorious peal of twelve 'Taylor' bells which are rung by a dedicated team of nearly two dozen volunteers.

It is the only peal of twelve bells in the Channel Islands.

The bells sound out over the town for both secular and religious events. Ringing a tower bell requires many hours of practice in order to achieve sufficient mastery of the timing and to be able to generate the intricate patterns required. Ringing and non-ringing visitors are always welcome to a practice on 5pm Monday and 10am Saturday.

Alderney Cinema

Visitors to the island are charmed by the 'step back in time' feel of watching a film whilst on holiday in Alderney. The small cinema seats only ninety people and until recently still broke for half-time while the projectionist changed the film reel. It is run by enthusiastic volunteers and usually opens on a Monday and Thursday evening. Tickets can be bought from the Movies and Music shop a few doors up, or purchased at the Box Office half an hour before a showing. Adults £6 for non-members aged 15 and over, £4 for under 15s.

Walking in Alderney

Discovering Alderney by foot is the best way to explore the island's breathtaking scenery.

Woodland, grassy commons, heaths, beaches and ponds are all connected by a network of over 40 miles of winding paths and tracks. Many of these are ancient trails, first created over a thousand years ago to give farmers access to their land across that of their neighbours.

A walk on Alderney never gets boring. History has shaped the landscape over the centuries and the island offers a fantastic playground for walkers and explorers alike, with bunkers, forts and Neolithic remains. Wildlife is abound on our peaceful rock with a surprise awaiting you at every turn.

Whether you choose to make your own way or follow one of our self-guided walks your senses will be awakened by the scent of gorse in flower, the taste of a ripe autumn blackberry, the call of an oystercatcher or the feel of the wind on your skin. Walking on Alderney evokes your senses and makes you feel alive.

Whilst out exploring the island, you will always be close to a bench to rest upon and admire the ever changing view.

Self-Guided Walks

Our nine self-guided walking leaflets are free to pick up from the Visitor Information Centre. Each walk, suited to all walking abilities, provides you with history and interesting facts along the way.

The Coast Path Challenge

Our well-marked coastal path offers 10 miles of breathtaking sea views with countless photo opportunities. The walk will take about 5 hours at a good pace. If taken at a more leisurely stride you can spend a whole day winding along this stunning route, hopping down onto beaches or stopping off at The Old Barn by Longis Bay for lunch. Every path marker along the way has a letter on it. You can choose to enter the 'challenge', decipher what words they spell and claim your certificate if correct!

Wild Alderney

Alderney may be a tiny island but it offers a wide diversity of habitats and species. If you wonder which season is the best to visit Alderney to see wildlife, the answer would be that they all are!

Spring

Early spring is the exciting time of 'firsts of the year': the first swallow, the first bluebell, the first butterfly. As days lengthen, many migrants return to the island. Some will stay and breed, others will continue on their way further north. This time of the year is ideal to enjoy the coast covered by colourful flowers and see our nesting seabirds, especially our iconic gannets and puffins from the cliffs or out on a boat.

Summer

Bats and our very own blonde hedgehogs are out during the summer nights. The weekly nocturnal guided tours are a not-to-be-missed walk for anyone wanting to meet these fascinating creatures. With the days getting warmer, the profusion of wildflowers attracts numerous butterflies and moths, like the rare Glanville fritillary. You may even spot our only reptile, the slow worm whilst visiting the Wildlife Bunker on the southern cliffs.

Autumn

Autumn is a season of surprises. Thousands of passerines and a good number of raptors, waders and waterfowl pass through the island on their journey to their wintering sites. The easterly winds sometimes bring a rare visitor to our shores. It's certainly one of the most exciting times in the year for any birder or naturalist.

Visit The Alderney Wildlife Trust in Victoria Street, a locally run and independent charity safeguarding Alderney's wildlife for all to enjoy alderneywildlife.org. Go to alderneybirdobservatory.org for latest bird sightings.

Winter

When winter arrives Alderney provides food and shelter for many species who seek its mild climate, including moths and butterflies who shelter in the historic forts and bunkers. On a windswept coastal walk you might see a pod of dolphins or a seal feeding in a sheltered bay. It's also at this time of the year that the first breeding seabirds return to Alderney announcing that spring is just around the corner!

Where the past comes alive

The peace and tranquillity that is so characteristic of Alderney belies a history that was anything but serene.

The strategic position of Alderney in the English Channel, some 60 miles due south of Portland Bill and just eight miles from the French coast, has long been understood and exploited as early as 300AD when the Romans built the small fort known as 'The Nunnery' at Longis Bay.

Throughout the Medieval and Tudor periods, military defences were essential parts of Alderney's life. Privateering, or licensed piracy on shipping belonging to the enemies of the Crown, provided much of Alderney's income during the 18th century, a time when the island's many fine Georgian properties were built.

During the early Victorian period, a wide project of fortification took place on the island. The Breakwater and numerous forts and batteries were built to defend Alderney against a potential French attack. During WWII the population was evacuated to the UK and did not begin to return until late 1945. Whilst they were away, German occupying forces constructed an uncountable number of bunkers and defences against invasion using forced labour. Those returning faced hardship and uncertainty, showing indomitable spirit and resourcefulness as they slowly rebuilt their island home. Homecoming Day is remembered each year on December 15.

Each wave of occupation has left indelible vestiges offering visitors the most interesting lesson of history as well as a wide exploration playground.

A Taste of Alderney

Alderney is bursting with flavour. From local produce and rich creamy milk to seafood straight from the islands clear waters, all of which is stocked across the island's shops and can be enjoyed in our delightful cafes and restaurants.

Kiln Farm

Located on the East coast of the island, Kiln Farm is a family run farm providing the island with the freshest dairy and meat products. With their very own Farm Shop located on Victoria Street and supplying local eateries it is easy to try and taste this fabulous local produce.

Alderney Free Range Pigs

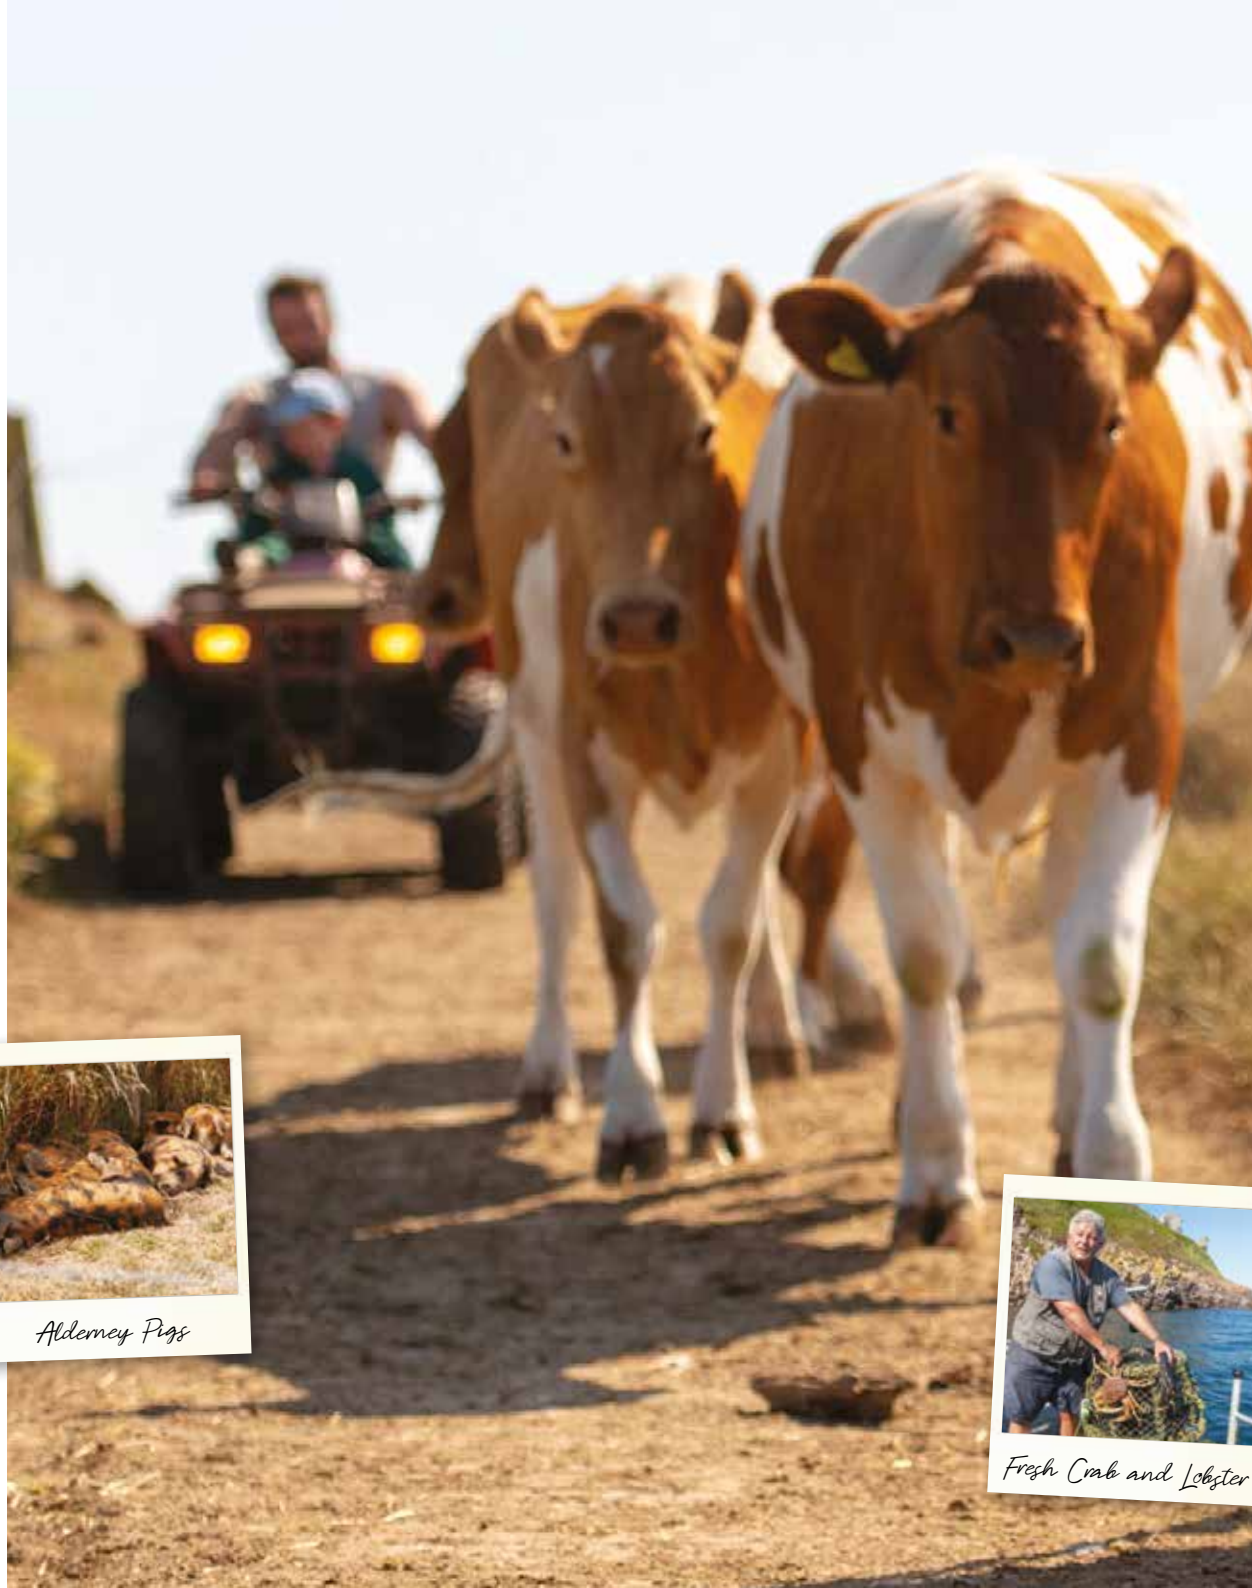

The herd of rare-breed Oxford Sandy and Blacks which enjoy a free range life at the Giffoine behind the airport are always a pleasure to watch. Because of the way they are reared, naturally weaned and allowed to forage, the pork from these pigs is exceptional. It is available to buy from the islands supermarkets or you can usually find it on the menu in many of our restaurants.

Alderney Honey

With an array of wildflowers on Alderney it makes it the perfect place for bees to thrive. The island is reportedly one of only two world-wide (the other being Hawaii) that is completely free of bee diseases and therefore a perfect place for happy and healthy bees. Honey products are available from various outlets across the island for you to enjoy.

Alderney Pigs

Fresh Crab and Lobster

Foraging

Alderney's mix of salt-sprayed grasslands and woodlands make it a veritable cornucopia of wild edibles. From rummaging in rock pools for shellfish and sampling seaweeds to nibbling on the wild ancestors of common vegetables there is plenty to discover if you have a taste for adventure.

Hedge Veg

As you travel around the island you'll often see boxes and small stalls set up at the roadside. Known locally as 'hedge veg', you can buy a range of local produce usually grown or made by the owners of the homes that the stalls sit outside. From fruit and vegetables, to flowers and eggs, home-made jams and chutneys they're all for sale. The stalls are unmanned and everything sold is done so on trust. Just simply put the amount due in the moneybox provided.

Every year in July Alderney celebrates the very best of the islands' local produce with The Food and Drink Festival. The twelve day long event offers lots of themed nights and special deals at many of the islands eateries for you to enjoy. Make sure you book your visit in July and expect to eat well!

Meet the islanders

Alderney is full of wonderful characters who each have a story to tell...

Nic West Artist and DJ at Quay FM

I first visited and fell in love with Alderney four years ago. It's a unique and beautiful place, not far from the UK but it feels like a step back in time with its easy going pace of life and sense of community. I moved to the island permanently three years ago. My relocation meant leaving city life behind and starting an exciting new adventure.

Alderney is a great place to live. The island has a lot to offer. It's different, it has beautiful uncrowded beaches, visible reminders of an interesting history and a laid back lifestyle.

When I moved to the island part of my plan was to become a full time artist. My studio/home is an old glass palm house on top of one of the Victorian forts. The building has panoramic sea views and is exposed to the elements, it's an amazing place to be. My surroundings, exploration of the rugged coastline and dramatic light provide creative inspiration. Sea, storms and coastal textures are suggested in my abstract art. Since I started painting opportunities have appeared, I had a solo exhibition in Jersey's premier gallery alongside works by well known artists Damien Hirst, Sir Peter Blake and John Hoyland and last year my work was shortlisted for the Royal Academy Summer Exhibition in London.

The island naturally lends itself to an outdoor lifestyle, kayaking, hiking, cycling, swimming. It's a great place to be all year round whether you're here for the fun-packed Alderney Week or wild wintery days. There are lots of events and clubs to get involved in and opportunities to try something new. Recently I trained to be a voluntary presenter for 'Quay FM' the island's radio station and now I have my own radio programme several times a week - something which wouldn't have happened if I'd stayed in the UK!

Donald Hughes Guide, Bellringer and Volunteer

Donald... moves chairs, meets and greets, rings bells.

'Don't believe a word he says' is what some holiday makers are implored from a passing motorist as I lead a small group of visitors around our historic town of St Anne. Well, Alderney's heritage is 'unbelievable'; who would suspect this tiny Island to have a Roman fort, unique Victorian defences, or a modest cottage to contain a stone fireplace circa 1300 AD? The history and architecture of the Island is what first attracted me to come to live here in 2005 and very soon I volunteered to guide interested groups around the town.

Like many other retired residents who make up the 'Dads Army' of volunteers I find no two days are ever the same. Alderney, with a population of approximately 2000, can certainly outperform any similar sized village in terms of talent and enthusiasm and the multitude of events all need back-of-house support. My involvement spans working with the theatre group behind the scenes; 'meet and greet' at our regular music concerts (classical, jazz, cabaret) and stack the chairs afterwards... or to simply support whatever is going on.

I live in the centre of St Anne, overlooking our beautiful church, another heritage gem designed by Sir George Gilbert-Scott, and the sound of our original six bells stirred my interest. I will never be a good bell-ringer but now part of the band ringing on our recently installed twelve bells is a real pleasure... when you get it right! I can also be found digging on my allotment, showing visitors around the lighthouse or walking the coastal path, especially the southern cliffs.

I presume you are reading this with a view to visiting; well come on over, it's a great Island, or come and live here just like I did. If you want to be a train driver, star in a show, or sail a boat and are not ready to 'retire' I know a place for you.
